Field Guide

Spring & Summer 2020

An (almost)
Complete Guide to Everything Happening
at Girl Scouts

A Note from Brian

Welcome to our Council of Distinction's fourth Field Guide, a robust effort on many fronts. First, it highlights many growth areas for us, including education, where we are pulling out all the stops to provide tools and skill sets to our volunteers and Girl Scouts. Second, it reflects diversity in programming; welcoming two new members to the team is opening up the outdoor experience. Finally, it puts at your fingertips opportunities for growing in courage, confidence and character. We hope it will open doors to camp, to STEM opportunities, to the arts, to challenging efforts like rock climbing and whitewater rafting, and to our wonderful outdoors. Our retention statistics are trending above national averages because our programming opportunities are confidently building tomorrow's leaders today. It is apropos that the front cover of the guide shows Spring blooms. We are a council where girls grow strong and this guide, a compilation of hard work by our Marketing, Program and Education teams, is a recipe for a harvest of spring and summer learning and most importantly, a season of fun. Enjoy! Our growth continues!

Unless a program is marked Family/All Ages, our events are for registered Girl Scout members in grades K-12. If a Girl Scout wants to bring a friend who isn't a current Girl Scout, the friend needs to add the $30 Girl Scout membership fee to the event fee and they can participate in the events for the membership year.

The Volunteer symbol appears when adults can expect that the program will actively engage them. If a program does not have an Volunteer symbol, unless otherwise noted, girls still require a chaperone, but you can expect your role to be just that.

Marcy Mastel, Camp Four Echoes Director/Outreach

Hello! My name is Marcy “Jo-dan” Mastel and I’m the resident camp director. My camp name is pronounced like Joe-Dawn and is a Japanese word for joke. When I’m not at camp, I support our Outreach program in several schools, serving girls in K-8th grade. I’m excited to get to provide the Girl Scout Leadership Experience to those girls during the school year and see them again at camp in the summer.

Garry McLean, Outdoor Program Specialist

I am a retired US Air Force Survival Instructor. I love living in the Pacific Northwest and being surrounded by so many outdoor opportunities. I truly enjoy helping kids find joy in the outdoors, try new things and most importantly have FUN. I am excited to be a part of this great council and look forward to meeting/working with you all!

Cory Ulrich, Camp Ashwell Director/Program Specialist

Hi! My camp name is Dory! I love singing (camp songs, musicals, Disney, etc), hiking, and canoeing. I started going to summer camp when I was 8 and now I’ve been doing summer camp for a total of 16 years! My favorite thing about Girl Scouts is getting to do hands-on experiments and problem-solving.

Rachael Fairbanks, Adult Education Specialist

Rachael’s mission is to help volunteers be happy, well-equipped, supported and to continue to grow in their professional and personal development. She has spent the past years working as a wilderness educator and is pursuing a Masters in Teaching at Western Governors University. Her favorite thing to do is float down the river with the family dog, a ukulele, and a friend.

Charlee Kyser, Program Support Specialist/Registrar

Hello! I am a native Pacific Northwesterner and love all that our area provides. I enjoy the outdoors, crafting, trips to the coast and photography. I love working for Girl Scouts as I have the opportunity to help and watch others grow into girls of Courage, Confidence and Character.

Laurie Taylor, Mobile STEM Program Specialist

Laurie Taylor joined GSEWNI after 30 yrs as a research scientist at the UW and in industry. She has mentored students as coauthors on research papers, provided STEM outreach to local schools, and worked as a K-12 substitute teacher in Idaho and Washington. Her life-long passion for discovering “how stuff works” fuels her mission to bring the joy of STEM to girls across the far reaches of our council.
