

Archery Patch Program

The Archery Patch Program is a structured, 7-step experience that helps girls build fundamental archery skills. This progressive program not only teaches girls how to safely and accurately shoot a bow and arrow—it also gives them the chance to set goals, track their progress, and earn recognition for their growth.

To earn the patch center, girls must complete seven key skill-building steps. These steps build a foundation of knowledge, safety, and personal discipline.

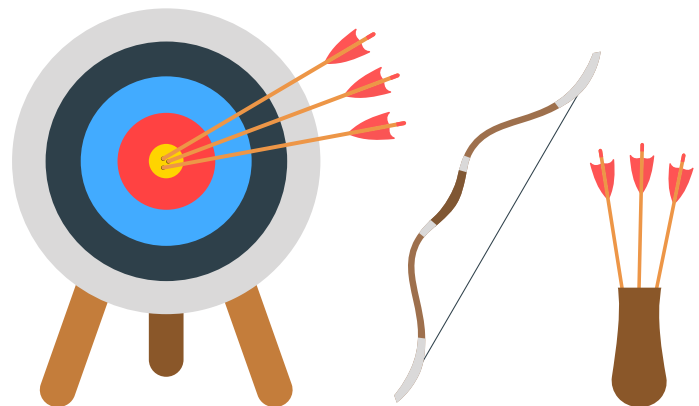

Once these core skills are achieved, girls can continue progressing through six ranked levels by scoring increasing point totals from 10 and 15 meters. Each rank must be earned sequentially, challenging girls to improve their accuracy and consistency with every round of practice.

Steps to earn your Archery Patch Center:

1. Name the parts of the bow.
2. Name the parts of the arrow.
3. Explain what dry fire means and why it isn't safe.
4. Correctly remove arrows from the target and return to the quiver.
5. Explain and follow the safety rules on the range.
6. Demonstrate proper stance, anchor, and follow through.
7. Hit the target with all six arrows from 10 meters.

Archery Patch Program

For each rank, track the points earned for every arrow—if an arrow misses the target, record it as 0. Use the blue box to total your points for each round, and record your final total at the bottom. Ranks must be earned one at a time and in order. For example, even if you score 101 points on your first attempt, you will only earn Rank 1 and must complete a new round to qualify for Rank 2. Begin scoring toward a rank only after you've consistently met or exceeded the average round score required for that level.
